Report that Conkling Declines the Justiceship.

Generals Sherman and Hancock on Retirements.

Congressional Proceedings—Capital Notes.

THE CHINESE QUESTION

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Senator Miller's able and comprehensive speech on the Chinese question was decidedly listened to by a much larger number of senators than usually sit through the delivery of so long an argument from a manuscript when no immediate action is expected and will undoubtedly be read in the Congressional Record with interest and profit by many of those who were absent from the chamber today. The comment made upon it by a number of the older senators who heard it, including several who were undecided as to the object of the bill are highly complimentary of the fullness and perspicuity of Miller's presentation of the case and the manner in which the debate has been opened. Inspired additional confidence that the senate will by a decisive majority pass the bill. During the delivery of the speech which occupied an hour and twenty minutes four members of the Chinese legation who were sight seeing in the gallery listened from a point in front, where they were evidently the cynosure of eyes. Much of propriety in their visit could be considered guilty of such a breach of propriety as they undoubtedly intended. Some democrats favored such a condition but it seems now it has been abandoned. Conkling has some strong friends among democrats. Vouchees has spoken in his favor and Harris Cockrell and other democrats are counted among his friends. Present indications are that only two or three votes will be cast against him. Hoyard on the judiciary committee declined to report favorably on the nomination but said he would not make a minority report against it.

SUGAR INTERESTS

NEW YORK, March 1.—A petition to the senate and house of representatives requesting that action be taken looking to the abrogation of the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty was forwarded to Washington by the secretary of the board of trade and transportation yesterday. It is asserted in the petition that the treaty has been taken advantage of by a syndicate of capitalists to develope enormously the production of sugar in the Sandwich Islands, which is admitted free of duty in the United States, thus discriminating against other sugar producing nations and injuring domestic sugar interests. The petition is signed by several hundred firms including all the sugar importing and refining trade together with a large number of manufacturers and merchants doing business with sugar producing countries.

COMPULSORY RETIREMENT

Army officers are taking deep interest in the bill to provide compulsory retirement at the age of 64, and all of them are anxious for its passage. A member of the house military committee says that the committee will report the bill favorably, and what conversations he has had with members of the senate military committee led him to believe they will agree to the bill in the form in which it passed the house. [illegible] committee on military affairs today considering several bills providing for compulsory retirement of officers, both generals expressed themselves in favor of compulsory retirement but said it is proper that any of the pending bills should be taken up. They thought the case might arise where an officer of high rank would be able to render valuable services beyond the period named for his retirement and the application of an arbitrary rule in such cases would result in serious injury to the service. They favored a standard of such as to rank indefinitely, but did not offer any suggestions as to any definite plan.

THE MASON TRIAL

A member of the court martial trying Mason said today that the court will finish the trial to-morrow. He said all there is of the case is that a guard died at a prisoner he was guarding, that his guilt is clear and admitted, but he could not say what punishment would be inflicted.

CONKLING DECLINES

The Post states that Conkling has declined the associate justiceship, and suggests Clarence A. Seward for the place.

DEBT STATEMENT

The debt statement shows a decrease of the public debt during February of $9,783,811. Cash in treasury, $252,617,648, gold certificates $57,188,120, silver certificates, $68,674,480, certificates deposit, $11,550,000, refunding certificates $346,400, legal tenders, $34,618,016, fractional currency, $7,005,807, but unavailable, $155,147,335.

MATHEUR RESERVATION

The response received by the senate to its resolution calling for information in regard to Matheur Indian reservation in Oregon consists mainly of a letter from the commissioner of Indian affairs, giving the history of creation and continuance of this reservation, and concluding with the expression of an opinion that the lands should be disposed of for the benefit of the Indians for whom it was created. Secretary Kirkwood transmitted the commissioner's letter with his approval of its views.

CHOCTAW RAILWAY LEGISLATION

The senate committee on railways to-day resumed hearing of statements relative to the pending bill which proposes to ratify the act of the Choctaw legislature granting right of way through Indian territory to the St. Louis & San Francisco railway. D. K. Tripp, for solicitors of the Chicago, Texas & Mexican Central railroad company stated that the St. Louis & San Francisco company agreed with his company that it would withdraw its bill from the Choctaw legislature the St. Louis & San Francisco would make a contract binding itself to build a bridge over the Red river jointly with the Chicago, Texas & Mexican Central company, and give it pro rata running arrangements. He said the latter company agreed to withdraw with the bill of the St. Louis & San Francisco in passing its bill but after its passage the president of the St. Louis & San Francisco company repudiated his agreement and defied the Chicago company to prevent ratification of the Indian legislature act by congress.

LEGISLATION

Kelley introduced a resolution in the senate that a committee on education and labor be instructed to report a bill to make an appropriation which when combined with the revenue derived from local taxation and income from local funds shall be sufficient to give all children of whatever race or color in the states and territories opportunities to receive a good common school education.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS

A resolution dismissing the contested election case of Lamar vs. King, Fifth district of Louisiana, was adopted.

A resolution requesting the secretary of the interior to examine the house bill to create a sinking fund for the Stone City Union Pacific railroad and report whether it conflicts with any law now in force applying to any other railways and whether it covers legal points necessary to accomplish the purpose of creating the sinking fund and to make any suggestion required to perfect the bill to the end that it may fulfill the purpose intended was adopted.

The house went in committee of the whole, Page of California in the chair, on the Indian appropriations bill. The total amount of appropriation recommended is $4,420,98[illegible], an increase over last year of $351,600 and a decrease of $927,000 from estimates. In lieu of an appropriation for interpreters in detail as heretofore they are provided for in gross at $20,000. The secretary of the interior is authorized to employ and distribute them in his discretion at salaries not to exceed $400 per annum. The number of agents is reduced from 67 to 60. The expenses of the commission of citizens serving without pay are specified in detail.

A motion to strike out the paragraph appropriating $50,000 for expenses of the Indian commissioner was rejected by 63 to [illegible]. The committee then rose and the bill passed.

Adjourned.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS

Windom's resolution from the committee on foreign relations for investigation of certain state papers and improper connection of government officers or members of congress with claims or agents or connection with the governments of Chili and Peru was taken up.

Bayard moved to amend by adding as a specific subject of inquiry the following: Whether any promise or stipulation by which intervention of the United States in controversies existing between Chili and Peru or Chili and Bolivia has been expressly given by any person or persons officially connected with the government of the United States, or who from its influence has been in any way exerted, promised or influenced in connection with said controversies by any one officially connected with the government of the United States.

Bayard's amendment prevailed without objection and the resolution as amended was adopted.

After the morning hour expired bill to pass the Chinese bill was laid aside for a speech by Voorhees on urgency for better accommodation for the library of congress.

McDill presented a resolution from the Iowa legislature praying that patent laws be amended so as to prevent unjust exactions.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Rations are now on the way to southern sufferers.

A bill passed the house to make Denver a port of delivery.

The testimony in the Mason court martial is closed, and the argument begins Thursday.

The house committee on naval affairs favorably reported the bill strengthening the navy.

Ex-Representative Hogan made an argument before the house committee this morning in favor of the establishment of a mint at St. Louis.

Page of California, presented to the house a petition of citizens of Oakland asking for the passage of a bill to incorporate the Maritime Canal company of Nicaragua.

The grand jury indicted S. G. Cottrell, Jno. N. Minkins, and Chas. H. Dickson, for conspiracy to defraud the government by means of fraudulent bidding for star route routes in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi.

The Exposition Assured

DENVER, March 1.—Sufficient funds have been subscribed to insure the establishment of the National Mining and Industrial exposition. The board of directors held a meeting to night and decided to advertise for bids for the building, to cost not less than eighty thousand nor more than one hundred thousand dollars, the building to contain not less 100,000 square feet of space. A committee was appointed to invite civic and military organizations of the state, the governor and public officers, and citizens in general to participate in the breaking of ground for the exposition buildings on South Broadway on Wednesday, March 8.

Curious Political Change

NEW YORK, March 1.—A special election to fill the vacancy caused by Senator Wagner's death occurred to day, and unexpectedly resulted in the choice of Baucus, democrat, who beat Stanford by one thousand majority. The district embraces four counties, three of which are usually republican, one always heavily so, and one usually democratic. Odd enough, all the republican counties went democratic, and the democratic county went republican. There was also another element in the contest. Saratoga, the most populous of the last republican counties, had been dissatisfied because the senator had so long been selected from other parts of the district. To-day, therefore, her usually splendid republican majority of 2,500 is changed to a democratic majority of 650, and Mr. Stanford is defeated.

Terrible Explosion

BRADFORD, PA., March 1.—While unloading some cars of nitro-glycerine from a wagon at the magazine last night, an explosion occurred, killing John Grant and William Orcutt. The wagon was torn to kindling wood, and the horses being badly mangled, were killed to end their misery. The whole front of the magazine was destroyed.

HOAR'S REPLY

To Miller's Speech in the Senate on the Chinese Question.

He Ascribes the Attack to Fear of Celestial Superiority.

Rehearsal of Wrongs and Extortions Practiced on Them.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The senate at 2 resumed consideration of the Chinese bill and Hoar of Massachusetts took the floor with a set speech in opposition to its passage. His main proposition was: Our people years ago founded this nation on the moral law affirming that all men were equal and derived from their Creator the right to the pursuit of happiness and that equality in that light is a fundamental rule of divine justice. In its application he held our nation had grown, and said the existence of the principle just stated had attracted immigration from countries to our shores that every new state affirmed in its constitution and that California herself in her original constitution declared it was meant to include the right of expatriation. This was declared in 1868 by act of congress and on the persistent effort of Conness, a California senator of Irish birth, it was urged on the country that the right of expatriation is as indispensable to the enjoyment of life and the pursuit of happiness. The doctrine was solemnly referred to in the Burlingame treaty. Mr. Webster declared humanity of rights as peculiarly of those of foreign birth is the principal benefit which America had conferred on man and world in mind and treaty and now we propose this legislation which undertakes to deny and overthrow that declaration and strike a blow at men by reason of their race and occupation. China refused to modify the Burlingame treaty on terms the exclusion of immigrants, disturbing persons and imported coolie laborers. This offer was rejected by our government and a treaty of 1868 was made which permits the exclusion of the lower classes but not permits the exclusion of laborers. The purpose of the framers of the bill is to strike that blow at labor without regard to consequences. It was impossible to overrate the consequences to mind and from evolution such a doctrine as the demand of the United States in the world public law. For a tariff and Massachusetts. Hoar continued: I refuse consent to exclude by the United States of the right of every man desiring to improve his condition by honest labor, his labor being no man's property but his own to go anywhere on the face of earth that he pleases. But the bill violates the provisions of the treaty which it professes to execute. The treaty permits only a reasonable suspension of immigration. The bill totally prohibits it for twenty years and confers on every petty officer of customs authority to seize and forcibly remove from the country persons without trial. What has happened within thirteen years that has given republic should strike its flag? Only 42,000 Chinese have been added to our population in that time. There are but 105,000 here all told, the 500th part of the whole population. They are the most easily governed race in the world. Statistics show a rapid decrease of immigration for the last decade and this diminution became greater when compared with the rapidly increasing numbers from other countries. Hoar said that in 1880, in a total immigration of 533,000, there were but 882 Chinese, and in 1881 there were 29,000 in a total of 720,000 immigration while in the same year 6,000 went back. The pure-blooded gypsies roaming through the country are as numerous as the Chinese, all of whom, if gathered, wouldn't exceed the population of the sixteenth city of the country. What an insult to American intelligence to ask leave of China to keep out her people because this handful of almond-eyed Asiatics threaten to destroy our boasted civilization! Advocates of legislation, he said, invoked old race prejudice, which so often played a hateful and bloody part in history, and asserted that as the Chinese worked and lived cheap he injured the American laborer with whom he competes. He answered this by argument to show that the cry against the Chinese was the same which had been made in the past against the Irishman, negro, Indian and Jew, and each of these races in turn had indicated its capacity for freedom and subsided over a large part of the world the prejudice which it had encountered. He admitted there were great abuses and dangers growing out of the coming of these people, but much of these he thought might be remedied by state or municipal legislation. Consular officers in Asiatic ports could prevent the coming of any man whose labor was not his own. The habit of living may be controlled by municipal ordinances prescribing the dimensions of a dwelling and limiting the number of occupants of the same tenement. Taking the race and determining its fitness for freedom at its best, we find the Chinese in many particulars superior to our own ancestors, as they first appeared in the light of history. As described by Macaulay they furnished able merchants, skillful diplomats, profound philosophers, faithful servants and docile laborers. Among the authorities cited on this point were many Californians who had personal contact with the Chinaman. The real motive of the attack on the Chinese was not of inferiority, but of superiority of the Chinese in most of the occupations of life. It is said they will not associate with us, but our treatment of them has made this impossible. They have learned our industries rapidly and intelligently, but they are excluded by statute from public schools although taxed to support them. The California judges certify that Chinese can have no fair trial by jury. The Dennis Kearney constitution the opium ordinance held invalid by Judge Field the police against them the crime and extortion committed on the Chinese may well explain their unwillingness to become Christianized. Such treatment as the Chinese receive carries his mind back to Israel in Egypt, where she take the press away and his name with a hard taskmaster. Hoar concluded: Our Republic was founded on the principle that the introduction of Chinese labor reduces the wages of the American laborer, denied. I am not in favor of lower wages anywhere, the wages of the American laborer on the contrary I believe the true price and to enhance the purchasing power of the wages of the American workingman should be the one principal object of our legislation. The share in intellectual and moral culture and in the enjoyment of the products which goes to them cost and I believe will steadily increase. For this only our protective system exists. In proportion of wealth national or individual and it is desired only for that. And I believe the Chinese laborer will learn very soon to insist on his full share of the product of his work that whether he lives or not the wealth he creates will make it better and raise the condition of every higher class of labor. The whole of an inquiry to our labor from China rest on the same fallacy which opposed labor in England, Germany and the rest of the European, the German, the Swede. Hoar next cited statistics to show that in many occupations Chinese labor is much higher than is paid for the same. Under Labor at the east and but labor expended in [illegible] generally range much higher than in summer in the east. The Chinaman had created much for the state which never would have been created. Went on blow the competition of railroad domain of low lands of California which has but seven hundred thousand inhabitants and can support 10 million. The fear of the driving out of American citizens is shown to be fallacious by small numbers who have come within the last thirty years and is in conflict with the other argument that they do not come to stay but return. He provided with abundant illustrations of the treatment of Chinese in California and contrasted the reported cheapness of Chinese ways and of living had been greatly exaggerated. Mr. Hoar concluded by asserting the right of every human being to go wherever on the surface of the earth he may gain an honest living, regardless of the government he came from by the same authority as the Golden Rule and the Sermon on the Mount, and that authority would make it right for the government and the people which obey his law. Not by any false exclusiveness or caste but by recognition of the individual soul can we win the great object of God in governing mankind on earth and the reserve of humanity from degradation. It is not by Chinese policies that China is to be civilized. After amplifying the idea Mr. Hoar yielded the floor at 4:45 having spoken over two hours. The bill was then laid over with the unfinished business for to-morrow.

Desperadoes Killed.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Polk Wells and Bill Norris, the Iowa outlaws, who passed through here last Sunday en route from Randolph, Wis., to Riverton, Iowa, attempted to escape from the officers while on the train. The officers were asleep, but the movement of the prisoners awakened them and they at once opened fire, shooting Wells six times and Norris five. The men were taken from the train at Sidney, Ia., but there is slight chance for recovery, both men being literally riddled with bullets. These desperadoes took part in the Manhattan, Kansas, and the Riverton and Sidney bank robberies, the Winslow, Mo., train robbery, and numerous smaller robberies as well as several murders in Iowa, Missouri and Kansas.

Railroad Accident

DAVENPORT, Ia., March 1.—An accident occurred at Ophemia station, on the C., B. & Q. railroad by which four men were killed and four freight cars and locomotives badly damaged.

Flood Sufferers

NEW ORLEANS, March 1.—The governor telegraphs the secretary of war that five hundred persons in the overflowed portions of Catahoula and Richland parishes need assistance. The Mississippi at Lake Providence is now higher than has ever been known before, and there has been a severe storm of rain and wind at Natchez.

HELENA, Ark., March 1.—The river did not rise here to-day as expected. The river from above begins rising to-night and will continue. A big break is reported just below Concordia which occurred yesterday morning, and the people are panic stricken. Four negroes and one white man drowned. C. W. Blackburn, of Lacoma, arrived to-day negotiating for a steamer to save stock and people from that district. He says many negroes have drowned.

Mrs Scoville's Letter

CHICAGO, March 1.—A representative of the press at one o'clock to-night called at the residence of Mr George Scoville and inquired as to the truth of the rumor that Mrs. Scoville had written a letter in reference to the nomination of Conkling. A gentleman friend and former law partner of Mr Scoville said Mrs Scoville had written a lengthy letter concerning Mr Conkling's nomination, stating he was more responsible for the assassination of Garfield than her brother.

COLLEGE NOTES

Result of a Kerosene Test by Professor Strieby.

A short time ago Professor Strieby tested a sample of kerosene bought in town. The result of the experiment may be of general interest. There are two tests for kerosene—the "flashing test" indicating the temperature at which the oil gives off inflammable gas, and the "burning test" indicating the temperature to which the oil must be raised, in order that it may take fire on the application of a flame and continue burning when the flame is removed. The former is considered the only one test of safety for the reason that it may take place at a temperature far below the point at which the oil will burn. In the case of the sample tested it ignited at 100° and burned at 120°. Kerosene should be tested by both tests. The oil should be priced above 100° and 120° is not too high. To return to the particular oil tested by Professor Strieby, the flashing point was between [illegible] and 90, and the burning point somewhat above 90. It will thus be seen that this oil was not at all safe. Professor Strieby is thinking of obtaining samples of other oils sold in town and making further tests. The secret of bad oil is that the refiners leave, mixed with the kerosene more or less naphtha worth only from two to five cents a gallon.

At last Friday evening's meeting of the Occidental club everybody [illegible] delivered himself. The literary exercises were quite good. It was decided but few votes both as to the argument and the subject that the protection has been beneficial to the United States. So far as could be judged the doctrine of free trade had not many friends. Next Friday evening after a few literary exercises, the members of the society will proceed in the Herlic coaches to Somers Park restaurant, where a supper will be provided. Mr John on has had the arrangements in charge and to insure the success of the affair will be largely due. Mr McCreery has been appointed toast master and toasts will be responded to as follows:

1	Our President	Mr Cooper
2	The Society	Mr Stewart
3	Fair Sex	Mr Reed
4	Our Guests	Mr Lee
5	The Athletic Association	Mr Johns
6	Thoughts	Mr Taylor
7	The Poetry	Mr Barr

A meeting of the Athletic Association will be held next Saturday, probably in the morning. The executive committee have selected the following foot ball team, subject to the approval of the society. Barnes, Bartlett, Cooper, Curtis, Day, F. L. Johnson, Kimball, Lee, Cleery, Pickett, Turner, Vetter, substitutes Hoose, Hull, H. D. Johnson, Sellwood and Wilson.

It is probable that a base-ball nine will be selected, with a view to secure a good ball player.

Retrenchment is the battle cry of the boarding club. As the cost of board has lately become higher, the club has voted to do without milk to drink and to have no butter for dinner.

Professor Marden was asked the other day to express in writing exactly what constitutes for the Sheffield prize, so all write alike. After due deliberation he decided that the subject shall be "Richard Cobden." The essays must not exceed thirty-four thousand words. Such a subject and such a limit will certainly give a large range to contestants. The term of eight weeks given for preparation seems to them half gone. It is understood that five or six persons will probably write.

Professor Stone lectured in Tuesday on volcanoes, illustrating the subject by means of the magic lantern. The attendance was good. There will be three more lectures by Professor Stone, after which there will be a couple by Professor Marden and four or five by Professor Sheldon. Next Tuesday evening Professor Stone's subject will be "Erosion."

The following questions and answers of some students are submitted to the makers of future catechisms:

Question—Are you an evolutionist?

Answer—I am not much in mathematics.

Question—Were you ever baptized?

Answer—Yes, but I didn't take.

Pacific Coast Anxious

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—In view of the enthusiasm prevailing in all classes of people in California and general anxiety felt by people of the Pacific coast for prompt adoption of the bill now before congress for restriction of Chinese immigration, Governor Perkins has declared his intention to make Saturday, March 4, a legal holiday, and on that day a monster anti Chinese mass meeting will be held in San Francisco and similar demonstrations throughout the state in support of the bill. Telegrams have been sent to the governors of Oregon and Nevada, requesting them to take such steps as they deem expedient.

Town Destroyed by a Cyclone

GALVESTON, March 1.—The News Velasco Mills special says: A severe cyclone struck this place last night almost completely destroying the town. Only one business house is standing. Brinkman's hotel was carried some distance and smashed to pieces. Fifty persons were in the building at the time. No lives were lost.

Arctic Search

ST. PETERSBURG, March 1.—Lieut. Hawker and Master Schultze sailed on the 24th inst. to join in the Jeannette search with the party at the mouth of the Lena river. Gen. Ignatieff offered them every assistance, and the government of Siberia telegraphed their approach to different points on the route.

The Register Call styles the GAZETTE "an ungrammatical sheet," with the adjective spelled with one "m." The value of the compliment may not be appreciated unless the reader realizes that to be ungrammatical is to be unlike the Register Call.

The people of Colorado will generally rejoice at the new strike in the Robinson. But it will not be best to buy any stock on the strength of it. The New York party have the inside track and will make all the money. The people of Colorado have already contributed several hundred thousand dollars to the profit of Mr. Waddington and his friends. They should hesitate before making a larger contribution.

Local papers received from Haverhill, Massachusetts, the scene of the late terrible fire, show the indomitable energy of its business men. The fire occurred early on the morning of the 18th inst. The same morning several manufacturers began business elsewhere in the city. As the new signs were put up they cheered from the crowd rent the air. The business men are full of determination and pluck. Overwhelming as was the disaster there does not appear to be the least discouragement.

The New York Herald calls Mr. Blaine a second Aaron Burr. How fortunate for the Herald that it is not a Stewart organ.—[Leadville Herald.

But it is. I was an advocate of a third term for Grant in 1880, notwithstanding his record in 1874-76. It supported Conkling in his fight with Garfield and his efforts for a re-election. And since Garfield's death it has been the first to publish the slanders about his administration found so commonly in Stalwart papers.

The Leadville Chronicle, in a long article on Blaine and Conkling claims that Blaine cowardly attacked Conkling through the nomination of Robertson. Mr. Garfield over his own name denied this and said the story was only told by those who were trying to belittle his administration. This describes the Chronicle, which is cowardly attacking the silent Garfield through Blaine's shoulders. There is no excuse whatever for misunderstanding Robertson's nomination since the letter of Garfield was published.

OPENING THE UTE RESERVATION

We have just received the full text of the bill for the opening of the Ute Reservation for settlement, and also the report of the committee on public lands submitted by Senator Hill, recommending the passage of the bill. The bill provides for the opening of the lands occupied by the Uncompahgre and White River Utes, and also a special provision which we have published protecting the miners who have begun to develope claims on the White River reservation near Ruby camp. Accompanying the report are letters from the secretary of the interior, attorney general, commissioner of the land office, and Indian commissioner. The bill proposes to open the old reservations for settlement before all the allotments of land are made for Indians in Utah. The reasons for this are set forth so well in the report that congress must see the wisdom and justness of passing the bill at once. It seems that the two bands of Indians that have been removed to Utah have been given sufficient land to fulfill the promise of the government so that they may have comfortable homes. On the 5th of January last 3,200 square miles were set apart by order of the president. But it will take considerable time to give each individual Indian his allotment. The report estimates that two years will at least be required. By the opinion of the attorney general, it seems that the lands of the old reservation in this state cannot be allotted for two years until after the Utes are settled in their new homes and, he says, additional legislation is necessary. Now it will work serious inconvenience to the settler, and do no good to the Indian to keep these lands out of the market until after the individual allotments are made in Utah. Regarding this the report says: "Since the time of the removal of the Uncompahgre and White River Indians from the state of Colorado a steady tide of immigration has poured into the reservation, and already a large portion of the best lands in the valleys have been settled upon. Were it not for the influx of settlers from Colorado and other states, this great tract of country, embracing nearly ten million acres of land, would be entirely uninhabited. There are many law abiding citizens of the United States who desire to make their homes upon these lands, but who will not enter upon them until they can do so under authority of law. Justice to this class requires that the lands should be thrown open to settlement without further delay."

Regarding the equity of the case so far as the Indians are concerned, there is no objection to the bill. The Indians were removed to Utah the latter part of August, 1881. On the 21st of November the Indian commission officially stated that lands in Utah are as favorable as could be found, and in quantity and quality were up to the stipulations of the treaty.

The report in discussing this point says: "No claim is made by the Indians that they still retain an interest in the lands of their former reservation, and, as stated by the commissioner of Indian affairs, in his report to the secretary of the interior on this bill, "There is no reason for awaiting the completion of the surveys and the action of the commissioners in allotting lands, &c., in Utah, before proceeding to the disposition of the lands in Colorado from which the Indians have forever been removed." This seems fair and should secure the passage of the bill. It affects only two parties—the Indians and the settlers. It doesn't harm the Indians the one and is a decided convenience to the other. This should be enough.

No little praise is due Senator Hill for the earnest way in which he has pressed this bill. He has secured the practical endorsement of the bill of the senate committee on public lands, and all the government officials interested in the matter since Senator Teller's resolution of inquiry has been answered, asking whether further legislation was necessary. Senator Hill has done a vast amount of work in favoring his bill and we may soon expect to see it a law. The people of San Juan and Gunnison should thank Senator Hill for the interest he has shown and the success which has crowned his industry.

A London Times dispatch from Berlin says: "Great surprise is expressed here at the non-appointment of a successor to Mr. White as American minister. It is thought that Prince Bismarck will retaliate by postponing indefinitely the appointment of a successor to Herr von Schloezer."

The late Charles Sprague, professor at Harvard, left a widow and six small children and nothing but his little property, the university will pay the cost of their return to Shanghai and continue the salary of the deceased until they reach home. Several Boston gentlemen are trying to raise a fund giving the family an income of $300 a year.

I regret to hear that Professor Blackie of Edinburg, is seriously indisposed. The last time I saw the old man was on a cold and cheerless day in Princess street. He was wrapped, as usual in his shepherd tartan plaid. His face looked as if a good deal of the fire and force of youth had passed away. No one would be more missed in the Scotch capital than the genial Greek professor, who has, in his time, uttered so many wholesome truths.—London World.

The venerable historian, George Bancroft, is a courtly, old school gentleman over eighty years old and is probably the familiar friend of more young people than any man in Washington. No matter how formal and distinguished his guests some of his young favorites always get to the board. Half a century ago his memorial oration for universal suffrage brought odium upon his name, but he let a man stand upon his own principles and the great world will at last come round to him.—[Washington Letter.

Mr. Henry James, Jr., remaining in Boston. The three "leaders of the Boston School" of novel writers—Aldrich, Howells and James—did not receive a college education. James, the youngest, is thirty nine years old. He first contributed to the Atlantic Monthly in 1865. He was then a student under the care of his father. He lives in bachelor lodgings and uses his mornings for writing in which he is, as Poe was and Harte is, painfully slow. He has a habit of not remaining long enough in good company to have it become stale, but vanishes when he is most enjoying himself. His American friends call him "Hurry James." He has lived abroad mainly for the sake of his health. While stout in appearance, he is much of an invalid.

Bryant and Longfellow

A short paper in The Century for March, giving a pleasant glimpse of the early relations of Bryant and Longfellow, contains the following exchange of letters:

When, in 1845-6, the illustrated edition of Longfellow's poems came out in Philadelphia, from the press of Carey & Hart, Mr. Bryant wrote to its author as follows:

"New York, January 11, 1846.

"My Dear Sir: I have been looking over the collection of your poems recently published by Carey & Hart, with Huntington's illustrations. They appear to me more beautiful than on former readings, much as I then admired them. The exquisite music of your verse dwells more agreeably than ever in my ear and more than ever am I affected by their spirituality, and the creative power with which they set before us passages from the great drama of life.

"I had been reading aloud to my wife some of your poems that pleased me most, and she would not be content until I had written to express to you some of the admiration which I could not help manifesting as I read them. I am not one of those who believe that a favorable impression upon the receiver of this will be unknown to you that you can afford to dispense with such little contributions to the general judgment in your favor could derive from any opinion of mine. You must allow me, however, to add my voice to the many which make up the sum of poetic fame.

"Yours very truly,
"W. C. BRYANT."

To this the younger poet replied with frankness and becoming gratitude:

"CAMBRIDGE, February 5, 1846.

"My Dear Sir: I am very much obliged to you for your friendly letter, which has given me, I assure you, the sincerest pleasure. Your expressions of praise and sympathy are very valuable to me, and I heartily thank Mrs. Bryant for prompting your busy hand to write.

"In return let me say what a staunch friend and admirer of yours I have been from the beginning, and acknowledge how much I owe to you not only of delight but of culture. When I look back upon my earlier verses, I cannot but smile to see how much in them is really yours. It was an involuntary imitation which I am readily confess and say, as Dante says to Virgil:

"Tu se lo mio maestro e 'l mio autore,
"Tu se' lo mio maestro e 'l mio autore.

With kind remembrance to your wife to Julia and to the Godwins,

"Faithfully yours,
"HENRY W. LONGFELLOW."

Sale of the Natural Bridge of Virginia

Richmond (Va.) Dispatch.

This property has again been sold—this time by the Allegheny Coal and Iron company to Mr. H. C. Lawson for $50,000 cash. This property has had an eventful history. The first owner on record was Thomas Jefferson, and he made frequent visits to the place, prizing it highly—in one of his letters recently discovered placing its value at $50,000, and saying that people would cross the seas to visit it. It has been sold repeatedly at from $15,000 to $40,000, at which price it was reported at one time sold to J. W. Garrett, since when the Valley railroad was located near it. A year ago it was sold by the Herman estate to the purchaser for about $18,000 and to him immediately sold to the Allegheny Coal and Iron company for $30,000. The recent purchase carries the improvements that were put upon it in the last season. The object of the purchaser is to organize a new company to be called the Natural Bridge Forest company to insure more extensive improvements. The property contains nearly 1,200 acres, a large part of which is virgin forest. It lies in the great circle of hills lifted 600 feet above the valley and 1,100 feet above the sea. From the highest point there is a view of the Blue Ridge for twenty miles and the place will form a shaded and breezy summer resort, convenient to Lynchburg and Lynchburg and Danville and New York.

Beaconsfield's Novels

Perhaps the most impartial and striking estimate of Lord Beaconsfield's life and character that has yet appeared is the extraordinary paper contributed by James Bryce, M. P., to the March Century. "Dizzy" Disraeli's fictitious works are characterized as follows:

His novels are too valuable a revelation of his mind to be passed over, but in themselves they need not occupy us long. They are brilliant, gay, sparkling even with cleverness, indeed, "Vivian Grey" with all its youthful faults gives one a stronger impression of purely intellectual brilliance than anything else he ever wrote or spoke. There is some variety in their subjects—"Contarini Fleming" and "Alroy" the more romantic, "Coningsby" and "Sybil" more political—as well as in their merits, the two latest "Tancred" and "Endymion" works of his old age being markedly inferior in spirit and invention. But the same characteristics are the same in all—a lively fancy, a knack of hitting off people with a few lines considerable power of describing the superficial aspects of society, a swift, narrative, sparkling dialogue, a keen insight into the selfishness of men and the vanities of women, with incessant flashes of wit bubbling up the whole story. But it is down a stage. The light is artificial light, not the sunshine. Nothing is in the Rembrandt manner. There is not one of the characters whom we feel we might have met and known, or a man whom we should like to know. Peers and factories are theatrical figures, their aims mere fancy, their love, though described as passionate, seems superficial. It does not spring from the inmost recesses of the soul. The studies of men of the world and particularly of heartless ones, are the most brilliant, yet even here any one who wants to feel the difference between the great painter and the clever sketcher need only compare Thackeray's Marquis of Steyne with Disraeli's Marquis of Monmouth, both of them suggested by the same original. There is, in short, no source of real dramatic power in these stories, just as there is in his play of "Alroy," and if we read them with pleasure it is not for the sake either of plot or of character, but because they contain so many sparkling witticisms and reflections setting in a strong light, yet not always an unkindly light, the serious side of politics and human nature. The slovenliness of their style, which is often pompous, but seldom pure or correct, makes them appear to have been written hastily—an impression heightened by a doubtful fertility of invention in the earlier ones, where we feel that the sketches the author gives are, so to speak, only a few out of a large portfolio.

In the police court of Colorado Springs, in said County and State, before Justice of the Peace, Thomas Bell, Esq., presiding.

Whereas, an information in writing has been filed in this court by Rollin W. Stone, charging Jesse Stone with the crime of Assault and Battery, committed in said County and State on the 3d day of February, A. D. 1882, and the said complaint alleges that said Jesse Stone did on said day and at said place, in said County and State, unlawfully and feloniously make an assault upon the person of said Rollin W. Stone, and him, the said Rollin W. Stone, did then and there beat, bruise and wound, against the peace and dignity of the people of the State of Colorado, and whereas, said complaint has been duly sworn to and subscribed before me, and it appears to me that said Jesse Stone should be arrested and bound over to the next term of the district court of said County of El Paso, to answer said complaint, and whereas, said Jesse Stone is not a resident of said County of El Paso, but is a resident of the State of Kansas, and has left the jurisdiction of this court, and has taken up his abode in the County of Arapahoe, in said State of Kansas, and whereas, the said complaint charges a misdemeanor, and the said Jesse Stone is a material witness against said complaint, and the said Jesse Stone has refused to give bond to appear and testify against said complaint, and has left the jurisdiction of this court without giving bond, and whereas, the said Jesse Stone is a material witness against said complaint, and the said Jesse Stone

LABOR TROUBLE

Serious Strike of Laborers at Omaha

OMAHA March 1—A somewhat serious strike is in progress here among laboring men It began on last Monday, about one hundred graders struck for one dollar and a half They were employed by James Stevenson in grading the B & M freight depot grounds and were getting a dollar and a quarter They would not let anyone else go to work for a dollar and a quarter This morning they with one hundred recruits proceeded to the B & M grounds and drove off those who were working and threw Stevenson's tool crapers etc into a pond of water and otherwise damaged property This afternoon the number increased to 600 and they paraded the city with a Bohemian band of music fifes with Yankee Doodle and seventy five cents on a fife They forcibly compelled a large gang of men who were at work on the city water works to quit work at a dollar and a half per day to quit and they cruelly pounded those who refused to quit They kept possession of crapers on the street and streams Mayor Boyd and several prominent citizens and Mayor Boyd and several citizens had a round-to-head fight with them in street in single combat who were pretty well used up at last The lawyer concerned in the right disputes which they say led to the invasion of the city will be here tomorrow morning to try with a injunction of special officers and in force if necessary He will also guarantee all who will work for Stevenson and threatens to make a wholesale arrest of any rioters as soon as ready

OMAHA & DENVER SHORT LINE.

Its Convenience to Colorado Business Men

Commencing Sunday, November 6, 1881, the Union Pacific company will run a fast Omaha express through between Denver and Omaha daily, over the recently constructed Julesburg cut-off

Leaving Denver (breakfast)	8 00 a m
Arrive at Sterling (dinner)	1 25 p m
Arrive at North Platte	7 30 p m
Arrive at Omaha	7 30 a m
Arrive at Council Bluffs (for breakfast)	8 00 a m
Arrive at Chicago (Chicago time)	9 00 a m

Time, Denver to Omaha, twenty three and one-half hours time, Denver to Chicago, forty six hours

This new route is 186 miles shorter than any rival six hours the quickest to Omaha, seven to fifteen hours the quickest to Chicago, St Louis and all points east, and it runs the finest trains ever built constructed by the Pullman company expressly for this line. They embody every feature of safety, convenience and luxury yet attained in railway equipment It is the only through line possessing a water grade across the plains (averaging less than ten feet to the mile) It is the most picturesque route has the best dining stations, the heaviest steel rails, best iron bridges and most careful ballasting

Passengers from Leadville, Gunnison, San Juan and all points in southern Colorado make close connection in the Union depot Denver, and arrive in Chicago and all eastern cities soon to have full day for business on the day of arrival, practically saving from twelve to twenty four hours, and avoiding all night hours

Meantime the old Kansas Pacific route, now Kansas division Union Pacific railway, to Kansas City and all points east and southeast and the Pioneer Union Pacific route from Denver, via Cheyenne, to Omaha and the east and northeast, maintain their usual standard of excellence Tickets via Cheyenne are good over the new route, or vice versa. 1 23 tf

ABE ROBERTS,
Proprietor of Mountaineer

"Esmeralda" at the opera house to-night

The Pueblo Philharmonics will arrive in the city in a special car at four o'clock this afternoon

Officer Tell arrested two more tramps yesterday afternoon who were eking out an existence in an old log cabin on the Monument bottom

Mr John Q Adams of Saratoga Springs New York, who has been spending the winter in California, is in the city, and will spend a month or so with Mr C H White

Col W P Hewes, advance agent for Anna M L Potts M-D, was in the city yesterday making preliminary arrangements for a series of lectures by that lady in the opera house next week

Homer Longmore yesterday purchased a dog for four dollars and afterward paid the former owner one dollar to take him back If you want to get into trouble just ask him why he did it

"Esmeralda" will be produced by the Pueblo Philharmonic society at the opera house to-night It is to be hoped that the Colorado Springs people will extend them a warm reception

Mr Maurice Lee, late with Charley Stearns, will to-day open a merchant tailoring shop on the second floor of the opera house block He has an excellent reputation as a cutter and guarantees satisfaction

A handsome oak case, designed after the architecture of the twelfth century, and containing some fine specimens of blacksmithing, was yesterday placed in the postoffice by T A Hay The case was made by Mr Fred Fge and is an excellent piece of workmanship

Mr J H Drinkwater arrived in this city via the Southern Pacific yesterday afternoon He came from Los Angeles, California where he is now residing Mr Drinkwater presented the GAZETTE office with some oranges that were grown in his own grove near Los Angeles

Very encouraging reports still continue to come from the committee having in charge the solicitation of subscriptions for the athletic association Up to last evening 180 shares equal to $900, had been subscribed for Let the good work go on and we will have a gymnasium sure

Col De La Vergne is now prepared to supply the market with trout taken from his hatchery in the southern part of the city Many have been waiting anxiously for this announcement, and they can now procure for their tables some of the finest and largest trout ever offered for sale in Colorado

Mr J F Wilbur, representing Mr W J Kinsey, the well known agricultural implement dealer of Denver, was in the city yesterday calling on his many friends Mr Wilbur is one of the pioneer newspaper men of Colorado and was the first editor and proprietor of the Colorado Farmer He abandoned the profession some years ago and does not seem to have any anxiety to return to it

Alderman Wilson suggests that if every one to whom tramps apply for food will report the fact to the city authorities, proper steps will be taken to have them arrested As it is, too many are inclined to feed them, and by so doing, lend them encouragement to come again Many times there are those who are actually deserving, but in the majority of cases they are able-bodied men who can readily procure work and earn their own living

On Monday evening next Anna M L Potts, M D, will begin a series of lectures at the opera house on anatomy, physiology, health and disease The first two lectures of the course will be free, and to the others a nominal admittance fee will be charged Several afternoon lectures will also be given to ladies only Mrs Potts is said to have an excellent reputation as a lecturer We call the attention of our readers to her advertisement in another column

Matt France Hose Company No 1 met last night for the discussion of the feasibility of organizing a dramatic company All of the members seemed to think favorably of the project and a committee on organization consisting of Messrs Varney Dunn, Cassidy Young and Bolton was appointed The company will probably produce as the first play "The Fireman" which is a piece of considerable merit and our citizens should do all in their power to encourage so worthy an object.

Mr C J Roberts has on account of poor health been compelled to resign his position as publisher of the Magnet and assistant local on the Republic During his brief sojourn in Colorado Springs Mr Roberts has made a host of friends As a journalist he is a conscientious and active worker as well as a ready and accomplished writer He went to Pueblo yesterday where he will remain a short time, and if not benefited there will return to Cincinnati

Mr Joseph T Torrence, son of J F Torrence, of Cincinnati, died in this city at four o'clock yesterday morning He came here about six weeks ago for the benefit of his health The remains were sent to his former home yesterday for interment

Mr Charles Livingston one of the oldest Denver & Rio Grande conductors spent part of the day yesterday in Colorado Springs Mr Livingston was among the number discharged by the arrangement some days ago
